

SUMMER CAMP

Summer breaks are always long; kids take long vacations, get part time jobs, constantly go out and waste the days away. Some kids don't want to do anything productive with their holidays, but some do.

Why let them forgo a whole summer that can never be relived. Why not give them a summer of fun, where knowledge & practical skills are imparted upon them. Where they get a feel of what design is like. Where their interests can be peaked. Where they can experience, what it is like to study in a truly unique Singaporean school. While at the same time, living the life of a travelling student. Spending a week on our sunny island, where there is an abundance of good food, good shopping, exciting attractions and great company.
